There is no marked change in the stroke over that which they used last year and Ward seems to have made his men give up the short stroke, clipped at both catch and recovery, which characterized the rowing of the Penn crews of three or four years ago. The men do not use their lead of their work with their arms, their outboard rowing is very good, for the oars come down with nice precision and there is no hang on the recovery. On the whole the crew arow in very good form and even without Renth it may spring a surprise that present conditions do not take into account.

"I know what I am talking about when! say that by opening the tracks you can practically close the city betting places and I'll show you why. When the horses are running at Gravesend, for instance, the Jockey Club keeps back the information That is to say the names of the horses and Jockeys, the scratches, weights and per positions are not allowed to be telegraphed or telephoned from inside the tracks until it is too late for the rooms to do business That means the fellows who usually parronize the rooms can't get action, so the either quit playing or go to the track, majority of them can't get away from bus ness every afternoon, and for that reason they give up the game. As THE SUN stated some time ago, dem Driscoil, England's featherweight champion, has permanently retired from the ring to become a bookmaker's partner of the English turf. In a recent interview Driscoil said that he didn't believe be health would allow him to train again and that furthermore he was tired of the game, "Abe Attell is the best featherweight, said Driscoil, Jand he can justly lay claim to be world's title. There isn't a bover in creal Britain who can beat him in a twenty round bout. I beat him by a shade in New York, and I can tell you that he made me trate at a fast clip. I wanted to meet him in a forty-five round contest in California, but I became dangerously ill and was as said that I came home to get well. Now I fee fine and I'm going to stay that way. No more boxing for me!"

"Wolgast will be a 10 to 7 favorite over Moran, writes Premoter Coffroth whe will stage the big fight in Frisco en duly 6, and a world of money will be wagered on the result. Wolgast is working like a beaver, He has no use for Moran and says he wants to give him a hard beating. Moran said that Wolgast was a coward last winter because Ad refused to make a match after the Englishman knowled out Nelson. This was an insult that Wolgast has recented ever since and is anxious to wipe out. I don't care to predict the result of the fight, but there's no doubt that it will be a ferie affair. Moran looks the picture of health and is taking great care of himself. He's been on the wagon for many weeks and thinks he will win the world's tille. Weath worked yesterday before a crowd of critical and they were surprised by his speed and strongth. He is hitting harder than when he beat Nelson and is wonderfully condent. There's so much interest in the mill that the gate may reach the $20,000 mark, which means a crowd of at least 15,000 speciators.

California governing glove contests, the Wolgast-Moran bout is billed as a boxing match for the lightweight championship of the world.

Boston critics incist that Mati Wells is a welterweight. The fact that he admits he cannot make 133 rimsside bars him from the lightweight division, they say Wells weighed nearly 140 pounds when he hosely had been and as the American weight limit is 142 nounds rimeside. Boston ring sharrs say the Englishmus should graduate into that class. On the other hard it is pointed out that Wells is within hi rights in making the English inclaweight limit, 135 at 2, and that nebody is compelled to meet him under those conditions.
